My success is not solely my own

Essential to my success is the belief that my success is never mine alone. My success is the manifestation of the extraordinary professionals with whom I have had the fortune to work, their dedication to me, and mine to them.

Through all of the intense and challenging work, I strive to demonstrate through my words and actions my commitment and respect for my team, and to persistently show them that I have their back, as I know they have mine. While I hold pride in the victories I have attained over the past three decades, that pales in comparison to the immense pride I have in my team.
