Aug. 6, 2025 – Neeraj Rajpal has joined Hughes Hubbard as Chief Information Officer in the firm’s New York City office.

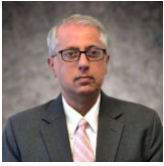

Neeraj brings more than 20 years of experience leading technology strategy and innovation at top-tier law firms. His expertise in leveraging technology to enhance client service, streamline operations, and support firm-wide growth aligns seamlessly with Hughes Hubbard’s commitment to excellence and forward-thinking solutions.

As Chief Information Officer, Neeraj will lead the firm’s technology initiatives, including infrastructure, cybersecurity, and operational systems. His leadership will be instrumental in advancing Hughes Hubbard’s digital capabilities and ensuring our professionals are equipped with the tools they need to deliver exceptional service to clients.

“We are excited to welcome Neeraj as his proven experience and leadership make him an excellent addition to lead the firm’s information systems team,” said Gerard F. Cruse, Chief Operating Officer of Hughes Hubbard. “His arrival reflects our continued commitment to investing in top talent to support the firm’s strategic growth and innovation.”

“I’m thrilled to join Hughes Hubbard and look forward to working with the firm’s excellent information systems team and collaborating across the firm to ensure we are providing the highest caliber of service,” said Neeraj.
